While Quickbooks has many fields for the address you cannot use them all. Between all of the fields you use on the address it can only span 5 lines.

Here is where the lines would potentially go:

Address1
Address2
Address3
Address4
City, State, Zip
Country
Note

As you can see we have the ability to enter a total of 7 lines for this address but Quickbooks limits it to 5 total. Quickbooks has some complex rules when it comes to the addresses and sometimes it is not so clear why one address is accepted and another is not and there is very little we can do except display the error it returns to us. In a case like this edit the address directly in Quickbooks. You will see what they will allow you to enter and what not to enter. be careful thought because they will not even give you an error message if you enter something they do not like. Quickbooks will just delete it if it does not like it. Once you have it setup as close to what you want as possible, do a sync and it will bring over the changes you made to the address in Quickbooks over to All Orders.

Clearing out the Notes address field in Quickbooks should also help. We do not sync that with All Orders and it will free up another line that you can use for your address information. Plus there are additional fields in All Orders you can use to put what is currently in the Notes field.
